Sweet delight with every bite!

Pinky's Goodies was born out of the recipes passed on to founder Pinky Javelosa-Anonuevo by her mother Magdalena Jalandoni-Javelosa. The butterscotch bar with cashew nuts recipe was an early bestseller, initially sought after by friends, then later by all those who tried it. Soon, the original recipe was tweaked to come up with other variants. Packaging materials were upgraded to export standards. The Philippine government, through the Department of Science and Technology (DOST), provided financial assistance in upgrading production capability and training in good manufacturing practices.

After four years, Pinky's Goodies butterscotch bars have become a favorite gift to friends here and abroad. Its packaging assures long shelf life without the use of preservatives and makes it convenient to bring along as a snack item for adults and children alike. It's an energy booster, satisfying the greatest hunger pangs.
